The Trouble With the Crows.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Persons conversant with the Indian situation in Montana are inclined to the opinion that the trouble among the Crows is largely, if not entirely, due to the pernicious influence of the Sioux in inciting the Crows to oppose severalty policy of the government. The interior department has the matter under consideration, and will shortly send a representative to the territory to make a thorough investigation of the cause of the disturbance.

JAKE SHARP.

A Permanent Stay Granted in His Case Until the Appellate Court Takes Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Chief Justice Ruger, of the court of appeals at Albany, has granted a permanent stay in the sentence of Jacob Sharp, until the appellate court has reviewed the exceptions taken in the trial before Judge Barrett.

Argument before the court of appeals is set down for Wednesday, October 19. Judge Ruger said he had read a number of judicial opinions concering Juge Barrett's decision, and these raised great doubt in his mind whether the sentence of Sharp was authorized. Before the sentence is executed these rulings should be reviewed.

Beverly Johnson, living on Baltimore avenue, was the defendant in a suit in Esquire Judkin's court yesterday, brought by his neighbor, Maria Ford, on account of his having killed her watch dog. He did not deny the killing, but attempted to justify it on the ground that the dog was vicious and dangerous to the neighborhood. Mrs. Ford showed that the dog was her only protection, and the court allowed her $50 damages for the animal.

HON. R. C. BELL.

He is Mentioned for Governor With a Party of Distinguished Statesmen.

Editor J. O. Henderson has a strong editorial in the Kokomo Dispatch on the topic of "Who for Governor in 1888." The Dispatch leans toward Senator Voorhees, but publishes a letter in which he adroitly leaves himself in the field. It then enumerates the other candidates as Judge Niblack, Col. C. C. Manson, Hon. A. G. Smith, Gen. M. D. Morison, Hon. R. C. Bell, Hon. W. S. Holman, Hon. A. C. Downey, Hon. J. E. McDonald, Hon. W. R. Meyers, Hon. W. D. Bynum and Hon. C. L. Jewett. Of Mr. Bell, of this city, it says: "Hon. Robert C. Bell, an ex-state senator from Allen county—adroit, polished, and a consummate diplomat" and then concludes, "doubtless other names have been mentioned of whom we have not heard. All of the above have been mentioned in connection with the governorship—any one of whom could win success."

FORGER SENTENCED.

Albert J. Whiteman Pleads Guilty to the Charge of Forgery and Gets Four Years at Joliet.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Albert J. Whiteman, who acted for years as assistant manager of the Chicago Telephone company, pleaded guilty to an indictment for forgery yesterday before Judge Altgeld and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. Whiteman was infatuated with gambling and his stealings have been continued through a period of two years. This he secured by a system of forged checks, drawn on the Northwestern bank. He was known to be a confidential man with the company and his signature was never questioned by the bank people. He was thirty years old and has a wife and two children. They were in court when the sentence was pronounced.

CHARLES DOUDRICK,

He Falls Under the Wheels of a Freight Train and Meets With Serious Injuries.

Charles A. Doudrick is a conductor on a Pittsburg freight train and with his young wife is living in the Esmond block on South Calhoun street. This morning the news reached this city that he had met with a serious accident at Plymouth, a county seat on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, about sixty miles west of this city.

The train that he was running was a double-header freight train. It appears that while the train was in motion, Doudrick attempted to go from the front locomotive over the second one to the rear part of the train, and in doing so fell between the engines. The wheels of the second engine passed over both his lower limbs. His right leg was cut off at the knee and his left at the ankle, while such other injuries were inflicted as to make his recovery exceedingly doubtful. The bleeding and mangled victim was picked up by his fellow employes and cared for. His wife was summoned and she left this morning on a special train, with Dr. Stemen, for the scene of the accident.

HE SNUFFED IT.

Daniel Witt Has a Very Serious Encounter with a Gas Meter.

Daniel Witt, a man less than thirty years of age, registered at the Robinson house last evening. About 8 o'clock he went to his room, No. 82, and it is supposed that he soon after retired.

With an air of abandon Mr. Witt blew out the gas and lay down to peaceful slumbers while the gas meter merrily ticked the hours away.

The fellow did not discover himself this morning and at 10:30 one of the housemaids put her eye to the keyhole and detected a strange odor of gas.

The clerk broke into the room and found Witt almost in the agonies of death. He was ventilated and after an hour Dr. G. L. Greenewalt succeeded in arousing the sufferer to consciousness.

Mr. Witt is being kindly cared for at the hotel and will get well. His home is at St. Leon, Dearborn county, Ind. He has relatives at New Castle and it is said the unsophisticated stranger came here to look for work.

The memory of his sensational introduction to metropolitan life will linger with him.

Arrested for Bigamy.

SYCAMORE, Ill., Oct. 7.—Samuel Saell, a former Swedish blacksmith of this city, was brought here by Sheriff Holcomb yesterday from Ashland, Wis., and lodged in the county jail to answer a charge of bigamy. The gay and amorous Saell was the cause of many a flutter in the hearts of the pretty, red-cheeked Sweede girls of this place until he met and won the affections of a daughter of Farmer Johnson, living north of the city. They were married and all went smoothly as the proverbial "marriage bell." Some months ago Saell went back to the wilds of the Badger state, from whence he had come to Sycamore. Since his departure it was learned that he had an anxious wife awaiting his coming in Chicago. Hence his arrest.

Poisoned His Wife.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—J. H. Seiler of this city, western agent for Messrs. Reeve, Osborne, & Co., tea merchants of New York, was arrested in Marion, O., yesterday, and brought here to answer the charge of administering poison to his wife last Saturday. He bought a bottle of wine Monday and left home in the afternoon. Mrs. Seiler drank the wine, was taken ill, and the physicians discovered strychine in the wine. Seiler is held under $3,000 bond.

Spoiled Their Fun.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 7.—Sheriff Leo Schott, of Hamilton county, repaired to Chester park, with thirty deputies all armed, yesterday afternoon, when Peter J. Nolan and John P. Clow had gotton fairly under way in the first round of the prize fight. He arrested both. There were 1800 people present. The prisoners were taken before a magistrate and gave bond to appear for trial.

A Banking Firm at Troy, New York. Closes its Doors this Morning With $650,000 Liabilities.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The assignee of the firm of Oman, Calden & Co., bankers and brokers who closed at 9:30 this morning, is Fred. P. Allen, of this city. The amount is believed to be upwards of $650,000. The assignment provides for the payment of all just and reasonable costs, the salaries of the employes, the payment in full of the depositors in the savings department and all debts, as far as possible.

ANOTHER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Stafford & Murphy, liverymen and street contractors, assigned this morning, with liabilities at $40,000. Their assets are nominally $50,000.

Telegraphing From a Train.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A very successful exhibition of telegraghing to and from a train on the Lehigh Valley road, where the system is in operation, was given yesterday ofternoon. With the train going a mile a minute messages were sent and the news and stock quotations were handled perfectly, and the conductor was instructed as to the running of his train.

Minister Manning Has Not Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The report that Judge Manning, United States Minister to Mexico, has resigned is positively denied at the department of state, and it is not believed he has any intention of giving up the mission.

Enterprise Brewing Company.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The report of the appraiser of the assigned estate of the Enterprise Brewing company, which was filed in court yesterday, shows liabilities of $2,000,000, and assets amounting to less than $17,000.

The Volunteer.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Oct. 7.—Considerable anxiety was felt this morning concerning the Volunteer. An observation was made from Abbot hall tower at 9 a. m., but she could not be sighted. She is considerably overdue.

LATER.

The Volunteer passed Hoagland Light at 11 o'clock this morning. A light wind caused the delay.

Tragedy in a Court Room.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 7.—A thrilling tragedy was enacted in the circuit court room yesterday. Sam Branch, a colored man, was on trial for larceny. As the jury filed into the court room, he was noticed to tremble and turn deathly pale. "What is your verdict?" asked the judge. "Guilty of larceny," replied the foreman. "What is the sentence?" "Five years in the penitentiary." As these words were uttered by the foreman, Branch exclaimed, "God knows I'm innocent," and pulling a large knife from his pocket thrust it into his throat, the blood spurting over the jury box and the judge's desk. The negro was dead in thirty minutes.

P. S. O'ROURKE.

He Chats With Editor Frank Zimmerman on Politics in General.

Editor Frank Zimmerman, of the Warsaw Union, devotes some space in his paper this week to Fort Wayne politics. He says Judge Lowry, who, by the way, was associated with Zimmerman in publishing THE SENTINEL years ago, should not accept a seat in congress, even if it was given him. Mr. Zimmerman would rather see Hon. A. P. Edgerton at the head of the civil service commission than a candidate for vice president, and then settles down to business: "While in Fort Wayne last Saturday, the writer had a brief talk with P. S. O'Rourke. As usual, the gentleman was chuck full of politics and chuck full of talk. He is what may be justly termed a democratic fighter of the independent order and stands firmly by President Cleveland, because he is an honest man and gives the country an honest administration. Next year Mr. O'Rourke will loom up as a democratic candidate for congress in the Twelfth district, and if nominated make his fight principally on the tariff question. He is firmly of the opinion that if the democratic party took hold of that question, make it the issue in the next campaign, it would be worth thousands of votes. He does not believe in the practice of stealing into office either by demagoguery or any other process, neither does he subscribe to everything that the politicians say and do in their own interest. Altogether his idea of political conduct agrees with our own views tolerably well."

STEWART & HAHN.

The Wabash proper earned the fourth week in September $52,000 more than in the corresponding week in 1886. The impression prevails that it would be better to leave the road in the hands of Receiver McNulta, as at no time in its history did the road earn as much, nor has it as rapidly paid off its just debts.

FROM THE FIELD.

Pencil Points Dotted Down After a Hasty Trip Around the Railroads and Manufactories.

W. H. Jenkins, of the Pennsylvania works, is suffering with an attack of malarial fever.

George Miller, a fireman on the Wabash, moved his family from this city to Wabash to-day.

Frank Saffen, the genial machinist in the Bass works, has the thanks of our reporter for favors.

Tom Hughes, who is employed in the boiler department of the Wabash shops, has been on the sick list.

The Nickel Plate's new iron bridge over Sandusky river at Fort Seneca, O., is completed and trains pass over it.

G. L. Potter, the assistant master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, is in the east on business for the company.

Henry Belling, formerly with the piano firm of D. H. Baldwin & Co., has taken a position at the organ factory.

Victor A. Sallot, the popular superintendent of the Olds works, was at Defiance yesterday on business for his firm.

B. Fitzpatrick, the general foreman of the Pittsburg shops is acting master mechanic, during the absence of F. D. Cassanave.

The Chicago Tribune predicts the breaking up of all the western railroad agreements, to be followed by a long demoralization of rates.

Otto Ossman will resign his position in the Pittsburg machine shops on the 18th of this month, to go to Pittsburg to take a position there.

F. D. Cassanave, the master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, left last evening for Chicago, with his brother G. F. Cassanave, on business.

J. W. Douglass, night yard master at Lima, Ohio, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, was fatally crushed between cars Tuesday morning.

The shipment of east bound freights out of Chicago last week amounted to 44,531 tons, a decrease of 466 tons as compared with the shipments of the preceding week.

There are now sixty men employed in the new moulding rooms of the Bass foundry. This makes the force of moulders at this establishment number over 250 in all.

The Bass works are constructing one mile of water pipe for the Pittsburg company, which will be laid from the company's shops to the east yards.

John E. Ross, the popular ticket agent of the Pittsburg, has his hands full of work just now. Business on the Pittsburg is booming, and the Fort Wayne office gets its share of it.

Peter Laurer, an employe in the Bass foundry, gave a very pleasant party at his residence lase night, in honor of his daughter, Miss Mary. About twenty persons were in attendance.

Now that the Wabash Western (the Wabash proper) and the Wisconsin Central roads have fallen into line in this matter of paying no commissions on the sale of tickets, there are but eleven roads outside of the agreement, and but five of them roads of any importance.

The general passenger agents of the trunk lines, at their recent meeting, had a stormy session. The question was sprung as to the responsibility of the Pennsylvania road for the recent scalping business growing out of its cut rates to the convention held in Philadelphia.

The suicide of John Jones and the robbery of Wm. Wohlford were the two great topics of conversation among the employes of the Pittsburg company this morning. Jones was a former brakeman on the road, and Wohlford is a machinist in the company's shops in this city.

The roads centering at Omaha are experiencing the same trouble from the detention to cars for loading and unloading and in attempting to collect demurrage charges, are puzzled what to do fully as much as are the agents at this point. When cars are worth $10 per day to a road the temptation to crowd shippers and consignees to handle their freights promptly is great, and that some hard feeling is occasioned often is not surprising.

The Pittsburg shops in this city are now building, on an average, three new locomotives a month, and in addition to this, are constantly engaged in repairing old locomotives. Work in every department is more active than it has ever been before, and it promises to remain so during the entire winter. The men work early and late, and in many of the departments a large night force is kept on duty. Such manufactories as this boom a town and much of the sure and permanent growth that Fort Wayne has experienced is attributable to such busy and extensive establishments as this, of which we have a number.

Men are often heard saying that their aspirations are high, but every time they cough their noses go towards the earth, with indications that they will follow them soon, unless they are wise enough to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in time.

WANTED.—Immediately a good canvasser. To work in the city. Business made known by applying to Geo. C. Richard, city bill poster, at Woodworth's drug store.

IRISHMEN REJOICE.

Lord Mayor Sullivan Declared Not Guilty--Wm. O'Brien on Trial To-Day.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—The trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Mr. O'Brien, for publishing in the papers respectively controlled by them, reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the national league, opened at the Mansion house court yesterday afternoon.

After hearing the evidence the court dismissed the case on the ground that the crown had not proved that the meeting reported in the National was a meeting of a suppressed branch of the National league. The spectators and the crowd outside the court room were wildly enthusiastic over the decision. The case of Mr. O'Brien will be called to-day.

Dividing Profits With Workmen.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—A great holiday and celebration was had yesterday by upwards of 200 employes of Proctor & Gamble on the occasion of the firm paying its first semi-annual share of profits to the workmen. The shares paid the men was 13½ per cent. on their wages for six months, which aggregated $98,000. Some workmen got as much as $40. This is the first dividend under the share plan since its adoption.

Took His Own Life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Alfred Jarniecke, aged twenty-five, son of a wealthy New York jeweler, shot himself dead Wednesday night as he was entering the police headquarters in charge of detectives. He had led a dissipated life, and finally stole some jewelry from a man who gave him employment after he had been cast off by his parents. His arrest and suicide resulted.

Foreign.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The Russian government is about to levy a duty on marine and railroad passenger tickets.

The widow of M. Katkoff will resign the editorship of the Moscow Gazette in January next.

A decreee has been issued under the German socialist law declaring a minor state of siege in Berlin and prohibiting the sale on the streets of special editions of papers.

Mr. Charles Arnold, of the Bluffton Chronicle, is in the city.

This afternoon Deputy Sheriff Platt J. Wise, received a telegram announcing the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ollie, at Elmira, N. Y., to Mr. Emmet Fleming, a prominent business man of Buffalo. Miss Wise was the guest of relatives there and in their presence the ceremony was solemnized. The young lady is a charming person and her Fort Wayne friends will wish her all the joy and happiness in the world. Mr. Fleming has visited in this city and is favorably recalled. THE SENTINEL sends its congratulations.

A GALLANT BRIGADE.

Reunion of the 129th Regiment at Warsaw Yesterday.

Quite a party of veterans went from this city to Warsaw yesterday to attend the reunion of the famous 129th regiment. The Warsaw Times says:

"Col. Charles A. Zollinger, the gallant commander of the 129th Indiana Infantry, arrived in town last evening for the purpose of attending the reunion of that regiment to-day. If ever there was a man sincerely beloved by the men he commanded during the late war, that was Col. Charles A. Zollinger. The old soldiers of the late war—by which we mean the veterans of 1861-2—were somewhat disposed to make sport of the troops that entered the service at a later hour. After the battle of Resaca, however, "Hovey's Division," so covered itself with glory that after that terrible struggle but little sport was made of "Hovey's Infants!" During that battle the boys, fresh from the workshops and farms of the "Old Hoosier State," became the veterans of that grand old army that captured Atlanta, and afterwards withstood General Hood at Franklin, perhaps—indeed, without a doubt—the bloodiest battle of the war for the number engaged. All honor to the 129th. May the survivors live always, and every man of their number secure a pension that will enable him to live in comfort during his declining days!"

Daily Sentinel.

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1887.

A CITIZEN of Prague in Bohemia, was visiting at Munich and sat there in a saloon when some foolish fellow managed to throw a little child's watch with chain and key attached into the glass of beer standing before the man. The Bohemian swallowed the contents at a gulp and did not perceive the mischievous trick until the watch was passing down to his stomach. The metal immediately began dissolving in the stomach, which it poisons and keeps in an incessant state of fever, causing it to reject every kind of food introduced. The man was dismissed from the Munich hospitial as incurable and is now lying in a hospital at Prague. He is kept alive by artificial food introduced by injections. But there being no hope of extracting the watch from his stomach, he is expected to succumb to the slow and lingering process of starvation.

THE Albuquerque (N. M.) Citizen records the courage and presence of mind of a lady of that place. While in her garden picking berries she felt something bite her on the neck just below the ear. She quickly put her hand up to the place, when a centipede curled itself around her forefinger. She immediately brushed it off with her other hand, and, strange to relate, did not faint nor scream, but ran into the house, and, finding the ammonia bottle empty, took a big knife and stuck the blade into the fire in the stove until it got hot, when she applied it to the wound. Next she took some soda and applied that, fastening it by wrapping a cloth around her neck. By this time her neck began to swell, and she says she felt as though the top of her head was about to secede, and closed her teeth tightly to make sure that her head was not gone. In a short time she felt greatly relieved, and then informed her daughter. She did not even call for a doctor, but she has procured another supply of ammonia.

AN amusing feature of the present American craze in London is the development of British three-card monte sharps. They ply their trade on all the great lines running out of London, usually selecting Americans as their victims. A well-dressed, military looking man enters a first-class carriage, takes no notice of his fellow-passengers, and is absorbed in reviews and periodicals. At some station on the line there enter to him two other military-looking men, who fall to discussing army estimates and dynamite guns. The conversation turns at last upon a trick that one of them had seen played at the Wild West show. Had any one in the carriage any card? No, but the taciturn gentleman had three photographs in his pocket, including one of the Prince of Wales. Would they do? Certainly. Then in a bungling way the sharper proceeded to explain the trick, asking the others to follow the Prince of Wales. As he pretended to become more expert he won from his friend, who laughed heartily at the conceit. The Americans present, though, had seen the trick so often that they could follow the Prince's photograph every time. At last they are led into the game, with the usual results. A United States army officer was roped in like this the other day on his way to Liverpool, and lost $120 before he had the faintest idea that he was in the hands of sharpers. "And deuced agreeable fellows they were, too," he added sadly.

AN exhaustive series of comparisons has just been concluded by Auwers which has involved the taking into account of more than 20,000 measurements of the solar diameter. His work has resulted in the belief that there is no good ground for recent allegations that the actual size of the chief luminary of our system undergoes a periodical change. Those changes which have been observed, or thought to have been discovered, must be ascribed to the influence of temperature upon the instruments employed in the process of measurement, excepting those that depend upon the periodic variation of the radius vector in the earth's orbit. This conclusion might have been anticipated, but it is consoling to have all doubts in regard to it set at rest by one who is acknowledged to be competent to compare and decide. Of course, the discussion refers only to changes of magnitude great enough to be perceptible at the distance of some 93,000,000 miles. Neither does it include the slow and steady contraction of the solar bulk which some of our best physicists believe to be a necessary accompaniment to the cooling process that is continually going on in the sun. A contraction of a very few feet per year is considered to be sufficient to account for the probable cooling, and this would have to be observed through the course of a great many centuries before it could be detected, as 500 miles at the solar surface corresponds to about one second of observed arc, and one-tenth of that quantity is a very small one. It is well known that precise micrometric measurements of the heavenly bodies and the celestial spaces do not date back much more than a single century.

ONCE there was lying by the side of the ditch a pig. On the other side lay a man. The pig was sober, the man was drunk. The pig had a ring in his nose, and man had a ring on his finger. A LADY who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of her trip to a party of friends. "But what pleased me as much as anything," she said, "was the wonderful clock at Strasburg." "Oh, how I would love to see it!" gushed a pretty young woman in pink. "I am so much interested in such thing. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine, too?"

OH, I know I can't," sobbed the woman, after she returned from her husband's funeral, "I just know I can't ever think of anything else with poor John in the—the—to-o-o-mb!" and she broke down again. "There was a very large attendance at the funeral," said a lady friend, trying to get the poor woman's mind into some other channel. "Mrs. Gen. Parade was present." "Was Mrs. Gen. Parade there?" Getting Rid of the Crowd.

A justice of the peace was trying a case in the town where he lived when he was a young man, and the speech of a very eloquent lawyer attracted a crowd, which filled the office and blocked up the doors and windows.

The old justice, needing fresh air, at last stopped the orator, and quietly remarked:

"I wish you would sit down and let —— speak a little while. I want to thin out this crowd!"—Youth's Companion.

A Shoplifter Caught.

A lady in London stole a piece of Valenciennes lace while examining some. She was detected, but permitted to leave the shop, whence a letter to this effect was soon sent: "Madam —I am afraid that the fifteen yards of lace which you selected in my shop will not be sufficient to trim your dress; I therefore take the liberty of sending you a second piece of the same pattern. I beg to be informed whether you accept." The signature was that of the proprietor. It was accepted and paid for.—London letter.

Catarrh, Hay or Rose Fever.

The cleansing, soothing and healing properties of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid are experienced in the treatment and cure of Catarrh and kindred complaints. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving he child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19-eodawly.

Cuba as it Is.

The island has more fine harbors than any other country of its size, and it is no wonder that the buccaneers of the Spanish main selected it as the center of their piratical enterprises. It has two hundred and sixty rivers and plenty of fresh water springs. It has a climate which is one perpetual summer. It never snows in Cuba, though the ice sometimes forms upon the mountains. The babies can go naked here the year round, and as for the stocking trade of Havana its customers are confined to the higher classes. Neither stockings nor suspenders are used by the laborers, and I doubt whether there are one thousand pair of suspenders worn by the one million five hundred thousand people who make up that island's population. They use instead a belt-strap, and the majority of the working-men of the island confine their apparel to an undershirt and trowsers. The better class of men dress in white duck, with Panama hats.

The lower class of women wear few underclothes, and a calico wrapper and a pair of heelless slippers are a wardrobe. There are no carpets on the floors nor plaster on the ceilings. Iron bars take the place of glass windows, and there is not a chimney nor a cooking stove in Havana. There are no barns, and the horses are washed in the harbors instead of being curried. There are no bricks used in the sidewalks, and the average sidewalk is three feet wide and of stone. The building stone used is a porous one, and this is covered with stucco. Havana has parks, but there is no grass in them, and as for shade, it can be got only by going to the mountains.

The policemen carry swords and guns, and the offices of all kinds are filled by the Spaniards. There are no mattrasses on the Cuban beds, and as for feather pillows, there are not feathers enough used here to make a wad for the earache. There are few china pitchers used in Havana, and the drinking mug is of porous clay, with a hole at the top, out of which the water is poured into the mouth in a trickling stream. Red brick tiles take the place of shingles and the tops of the houses are used in the evenings for sitting-rooms. The gardens of Havana are inside the houses, instead of behind them.

The milkman drives his cow from door to door and milks directly into the vessel of his customer. The calf generally tags along behind, and the cow now and then refuses to give down her milk until the calf has had a pull. The only way of watering the milk is watering the cow; but a cow that is kept on the run much of the time does not always give good milk.

The Cuban takes oranges, bread and butter, and coffee for breakfast. He pares his oranges as we do apples, and you find plates of pared oranges before you on the table when you sit down to the morning meal. The way to eat these oranges is to drive a fork into them, plant your teeth firmly into the luscious fruit and suck the juice. The Cuban breakfast is taken on rising, and there is another breakfast about nine or ten o'clock. This is more like the American meal, and the whole city knocks off for it. Passing along the street at this time you may see families at their meals through the open windows and doors, and an hour or two latter the whole town seems to be taking a siesta. Dinner is eaten between five and six o'clock, and the stores keep open until about nine o'clock in the evening.—Home Journal.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES. M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

The Kayak in Greenland.

Writing in the Century of the Greenland kayak, Gen. Greely says: This dangerous craft is gradually dying out in Greenland, and only the brighter and more ambitious boys acquire it. Practice must commence at a tender age, and must be continued assiduously. Jens had a pride and delight in the art, such as was unusual in his settlement. For those who have never seen a kayak I will imperfectly describe it as a shuttle-shaped boat, consisting of a wooden frame-work, which is fastened together generally by sealskin thongs, and over which is stretched a covering of tanned sealskin as neatly and tightly as in the sheepskin of a drum-head. The skin covering is so well tanned, and it is so deftly sewn together with sinew thread by the Eskimo women, that no drop of water finds its way through skin or seam. The use of seal throngs in uniting the stanchions gives great strength and equal elasticity, allowing with impunity great shocks which otherwise would destroy so frail a structure. The boat is usually some fifteen feet long, and from its central point gently curves upward—from a width of twenty and a depth of ten inches—to pointed ends. Both prow and stern are carefully armed with a thin molding of walrus ivory, which is a protection to the skin covering when the hunter, spinning through the water, strikes small ice, or, in landing, so throws forward and upward his kayak that boat and man slide easily and safely up the edge on to the level surface of a floe. The only opening is a circular hole with a bone or wooden ring, its size being strictly limited to the circumference of the hips of the largest hunter who is to use it.

A waterproof combination jacket and mitten of oil-tanned sealskin is worn by the hunter, who tightly laces the bottom to the ring, so that no water can enter the kayak. Thus equipped the Innuit hunter faces seas which would swamp any other craft and plunges safely through the heaviest serf. A single oar, with a blade at each end, in skillful and trained hands propels this unballasted, unsteady craft with great rapidity, and it moves through the water at a rate varying from five to ten miles an hour, according to the character of the sea and the exigency of the occasion. The oar properly handled enables an expert to rise to the surface if, as happens at times, the boat is overturned.

The kayak of the Esquimau is probably unsurpassed in ingenuity by the boating devices of any other savage people of the globe. Its essential points of lightness, buoyancy, and structural strength are marvelously well adapted to the varying and dangerous conditions under which an Esquiman provider seeks his sea game. This tiny craft with all hunting gear weighs scarcely fifty pounds, and will carry a load of some 200 pounds besides its occupant.

SPECIAL taxes are levied upon bachelors in France, and they pay it cheerfully; nary a kick.

POPPING the question has its corollary—being questioned by the pop.—Lowell Citizen.

A Queer Philanthropist.

Stephen Girard was a man under a possession. He had a great talent, and it dominated him. In his pursuit of business he was as keen as a lover, and as blind to outside and diverting influences. It was not money-making that was his passion, that came as a logical result; but he was absorbed in, and devoted to business. He sometimes hardly seemed to realize the value of money to other people, and that a man should be ruined because he could not command a certain sum on a certain day was almost a crime to him. No one had a right to get into such a position, and he should ask no pity. Girard had no patience with failures. If a man had feet let him stand on them. No one found Girard willing to act as a crutch, although he could go into the houses whose very air was death, and in his arms carry out men who were dying with a pestilence. He believed in fraternity, but his employes were—his employes. In his counting-room, his bank, his house, there was but one will, and that was his own. He paid for the work done for him. Did the worker need any money? Had he necessities beyond his income? What was that to his employer? He kept to his limits in all his relations in life, and never lost a clear sense of relative positions. After his brother Jean died, he took charge of the three orphan children left in Philadelphia. He sent them to the best schools, but he paid the bills out of the little estate their father left. His house was their home, and he was kind to them. He never bought a shawl or dress for one that he did not for the others, and he remembered their girlish fancies. After they had married from his house he petted their children, and liked to have them about, and, indeed, felt a right to the little people, but he never adopted these girls, and never seemed to have a father's devotion for them. He corresponded with his family in France, but he was too busy watching the markets of the world to give much time to individuals, even if they were his relations.—The Domestic Monthly.

MEN love to hear of their power, but have an extreme disrelish to be told their duty.—Burke.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

Minnie Maddern and her company were guests of the Rich house last night. The party was en route to South Bend where they play to-night and to-morrow night.

In the account of the death of Mrs. M. F. Barbour, given in yesterday's SENTINEL, it should have been stated that she was born on the 29th day of November, 1817.

The Union Pacific tea company has our thanks for a pound package of their flavored Young Hyson tea. It is splendid tea and Mr. F. C. Patmore, the manager, has our thanks.

Charles Riel, who had his hand injured at the electric light works, is on duty again. The doctor made a mistake when he said Charles could not work for a month, as he is a hustler.

Prof. Charley Meyer, of the Conservatory, is organizing a grand chorus and has sent invitations to the best voices in the city to meet him next Monday evening for organization. This is acceptable work.

The funeral of Mrs. M. F. Barbour will occur to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Moffat, and the friends of the family are invited to attend.

The new street cars are to be elegantly upholstered. They were expected here to-morrow, but it is probable they will not come until the company has constructed its new car house. Work on this building will begin next week and it is to have a repair room on the second floor, with elevator attachments.

The Huntington Herald says: "Hon. John H. Bass, president of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, and Hon. S. B. Bond, president of the Fort Wayne National bank, were in the city between trains. Both gentlemen expressed themselves as very much surprised at the wonderfully rapid growth of Huntington."

The Lagrange Standard says: "Supt. P. S. O'Rourke was in town last week. He thinks all the difficulties about the Orland branch will be overcome, but does not indicate that the Grand Rapids and Indiana company will change its original terms in the least. These have not been fully understood, hereabouts at least, in the light they are said to be."

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church gave a very delightful entertainment last evening in the way of opening the new rooms of the church. Music was made a very enjoyable feature of last evening's affair. There were solos by Miss Ida Kellogg, Mrs. Hugh McC. Bond, Mr. E. F. Yarnelle, Mr. Chas H. Worden and others. Miss Julia Wilson presided at the piano. A splendid supper was served.

Col. D. N. Foster returned early this morning, with his son Bert, from New Jersey, where the latter has been for the last few weeks on account of his health. Although Bert is slightly better than when he left New Jersey a day or two ago, he is still in a very dangerous condition. He is afflicted with consumption and his parents are doing everything in their power to stay the progress of the dread disease.

There was no police court this morning.

Councilman Haiber has gone to Mt. Clemens, Mich., for his health.

The Fort Wayne Rifles will discontinue their drills until January 1.

"Alone in London" will be presented at the Temple to-morrow evening.

Joe Derheimer is almost ready to lay a cedar block pavement on West Main street.

Prof. Louis Mahler, formerly of this city, is operating a dancing school at Atchison, Kansas.

Geo. A. Reed and Nettie A. Turnbull, Wm. H. Fleming and Ella Strader have been licensed to wed.

The cobble stone pavement between the street car tracks settled badly and is being repaired in places.

Miss Merica Hoagland will leave for Europe Monday afternoon. She expects to be gone about four months.

The funeral of Fred W. Buschman will take place at 2 o'clock Monday from St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Miss Cora Tanner, the charming emotional actress in "Alone in London," will present a new piece called "Fascination" at the Temple next season.

Mrs. George Snyder, of Shane's Crossing, Ohio, arrived in the city last night and is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John H. Kable, whose little girl is ill with the scarlet fever.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Emilie F., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Meyer to John W. Landenberger, bookkeeper for J. C. Peters. The nuptials will be solemnized at St. Paul's Lutheran church at noon on Wednesday, October 19, Rev. Sauers officiating.

The Wabash Western has nearly $1,500,000 in cash in its treasury and its earnings are exceeding those of any time in its history. A portion of this money is to be expended in further improving the road bed and equipments, more especially its passenger equipment.

Mrs. William Bendure, who was visiting relatives in the city, went to her home, near Lafayette, yesterday. The lady was induced to shorten her visit here by the appearance of scarlet fever near the house she was stopping at, fearful that her baby would become ill with the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McKinnie and Miss McLaughlin returned last evening from Chicago. They attended the reception given President and Mrs. Cleveland at the Columbia theatre, Chicago, and were presented to the chief magistrate and his wife. Mr. McKinnie is a great admirer of Mr. Cleveland.

Robert Reynolds and William Kenedy were tried by the circuit court jury yesterday for petit larceny, in stealing six pool balls from Louis Banet. The punishment assessed was eighteen months in state prison for Reynolds and one year in state prison for Kenedy. James Hill, who stole a mouth harp got 10 days in jail.

Mr. W. P. Chapman is enjoying a merited rest from his labors as local manager of the Adams and American Express companies, in this city, for the past thirteen years. Mr. Chapman resigned his position with the honors of his employers and the thanks of the public, because in and out of business he was an obliging, courteous gentleman.

Adam Forepaugh purchased a mammoth ox at Atchison, Kansas, for $10,000. Forepaugh figures. He is a beautiful roan, six feet and four inches high, eleven feet and four inches around the girth, three feet and four inches between hip points and eighteen feet from tip to tip. He has tremendous bones and when fatted and filled out will weigh 4,700 pounds.

The funeral of Brakeman John W. Jones who shot himself took place at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence of his mother No. 51 Oliver street. Dr. J. M. Dinnen, the coroner, says Mr. Jones was not drinking at the time he shot at his wife and killed himself. It seems to have been a case where whisky and domestic troubles were mixed in equal proportions.

William Wolfert, a well known department foreman in the Pittsburg shops, who lives at No. 408 Hanna street, walked into Miller's Lafayette street drug store last evening after 8 o'clock, with his hands tied tightly behind him. The rope was cut and Mr. Wolfert explained that a stort time before, on Hamilton street, he was waylaid, knocked down and robbed of $850. The man had no marks of the encounter and was a little mixed as to his position when assaulted. Mr. Wolfert is an honest, sober fellow and was seen on Calhoun street a short time before the alleged robbery. He is in the habit of carrying considerable money with him and of showing it. There is some question about Mr. Wolfert's story, however, and some of his friends say he might have lost some money at a game of chance and sought the means described to cover it up. Very few credit the theory of highway robbery at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Councilman Williams has returned from Chicago.

Mr. O. B. Wiley returned from Chicago last evening.

Mr. Tom Pickard and his bride are visiting relatives in the city.

The Morton club will give its inaugural reception this evening.

The following building permits have been granted: to Louis Schmieman to build an addition to his house on lot 10, Ewing's addition to cost $800; to Sophia Myer to build a barn on lot 45, foundry addition, to cost $100.

Mr. Al. Irey, of the Journal, filed an affidavit in Justice Ryan's court, last evening, charging Editor Mitchell with carrying concealed weapons. The fire eating Mr. Mitchell put in a plea of guilty this morning and will pay his fine.

The time of meeting agreed upon by the ladies connected with the Y. M. C. A. fair and festival, has by force of circumstance, been changed from Saturday, October 8th, to Tuesday, October 11, at 3:30 p. m., to be held at the same place, Aveline house.

Mrs. Margeret Pfeiffer, wife of John Phillip Pfeiffer, died last night of heart disease, aged fifty-six years. Her funeral occurs Sunday afternoon at 1:30 from the residence No. 35 Maumee avenue and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church, Kev. Kucher officiating.

The funeral of the late Jacob Kelliger will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the residence of John Keintz, on South Hanna street. Services at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30. Friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice.

The meeting of the ladies connected with the fair and festival of the Y. M. C. A., which was appointed for Saturday, Oct. 8th, at 4 p. m. at the Aveline house has been changed until Tuesday, Oct. 11th at 3:30 p. m., at the same place, at which time a full attendance is desired. Do not forget.

The Daddy Nolan combination pleased their audience after their fashion at the Temple last night. It introduces the story of an extravagant college son, a secret marriage and Peck's bad boy, with two pleasing ladies to feast one's eyes on. The show always catches a fair audience and is not bad for its kind.

D. W. Harding, the former well known and popular machinist in the Pittsburg shops, is now at Chicago. He resigned his position here a few weeks ago and it is now rumored that certain domestic difficulties led him to take this step. His wife remained in this city and the friends of both parties are now endeavoring to amicably arrange matters between them. Mr. Harding was a pleasant, industrious and intelligent young gentleman and both he and his wife have a host of friends in this city.

Don't!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels, or wrappers, or in a mutilated or defaced package, don't touch it—don't buy it at any price, you can rest assured that there is something wrong—it may be a dangerous counterfeit. Insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken, genuine package.

Mrs. Hugh Dougherty is in the city visiting friends.

Deputy Auditor Dennis Gorman is suffering from ague.

There seems to be an epidemic of measles in the city.

The circuit court jury was discharged until next Monday.

The Water Works Case.

The closing arguments in the feeder canal injunction case began this morning. Mr. H. C. Hanna opened for the trustees, Mr. Henry Colerick and Judge John Morris followed for the city, while Hon. W. G. Colerick concluded as we go to press.

Judge McBride will hardly decide the case until to-morrow.

The Trouble With the Crows.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Persons conversant with the Indian situation in Montana are inclined to the opinion that the trouble among the Crows is largely, if not entirely, due to the pernicious influence of the Sioux in inciting the Crows to oppose severally policy of the government. The interior department has the matter under consideration, and will shortly send a representative to the territory to make a thorough investigation of the cause of the disturbance.

JAKE SHARP.

A Permanent Stay Granted in His Case Until the Appellate Court Takes Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Chief Justice Ruger, of the court of appeals at Albany, has granted a permanent stay in the sentence of Jacob Sharp, until the appellate court has reviewed the exceptions taken in the trial before Judge Barrett.

Argument before the court of appeals is set down for Wednesday, October 19. Judge Ruger said he had read a number of judicial opinions concering Juge Barrett's decision, and these raised great doubt in his mind whether the sentence of Sharp was authorized. Before the sentence is executed these rulings should be reviewed.

Charles Herff.

WABASH, Ind., Oct. 7.—Charles Herff, one of the oldest settlers of Wabash county, and about the first merchant to engage in business here, died at Peru, last night, of heart disease. He was seventy-five years old, and leaves a widow. He was one of the most prominent Hebrew residents of this part of the state.

Coming From the Funeral.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 7.—While returning from the funeral of Patrick O'Shea, who died in the Joliet Penitentiary Tuesday, Mike O'Shea, a brother, and James Delaney, a cousin of the deceased, were struck by the 5 o'clock overland train on the Union Pacific road, and instantly killed. They were running a horse race at the time of the accident.

Governor Gray has received a requisition from the governor of New York for the arrest of James Case, wanted for concealing property with intent to defraud, at Nelson, Madison county, N. Y.

Beverly Johnson, living on Baltimore avenue, was the defendant in a suit in Esquire Judkin's court yesterday, brought by his neighbor, Maria Ford, on account of his having killed her watch dog. He did not deny the killing, but attempted to justify it on the ground that the dog was vicious and dangerous to the neighborhood. Mrs. Ford showed that the dog was her only protection, and the court allowed her $50 damages for the animal.

HON. R. C. BELL.

He is Mentioned for Governor With a Party of Distinguished Statesmen.

Editor J. O. Henderson has a strong editorial in the Kokomo Dispatch on the topic of "Who for Governor in 1888." The Dispatch leans toward Senator Voorhees, but publishes a letter in which he adroitly leaves himself in the field. It then enumerates the other candidates as Judge Niblack, Col. C. C. Manson, Hon. A. G. Smith, Gen. M. D. Morison, Hon. R. C. Bell, Hon. W. S. Holman, Hon. A. C. Downey, Hon. J. E. McDonald, Hon. W. R. Meyers, Hon. W. D. Bynum and Hon. C. L. Jewett. Of Mr. Bell, of this city, it says: "Hon. Robert C. Bell, an ex-state senator from Allen county—adroit, polished, and a consummate diplomat" and then concludes, "doubtless other names have been mentioned of whom we have not heard. All of the above have been mentioned in connection with the governorship—any one of whom could win success."

FORGER SENTENCED.

Albert J. Whiteman Pleads Guilty to the Charge of Forgery and Gets Four Years at Joliet.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Albert J. Whiteman, who acted for years as assistant manager of the Chicago Telephone company, pleaded guilty to an indictment for forgery yesterday before Judge Altgeld and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. Whiteman was infatuated with gambling and his stealings have been continued through a period of two years. This he secured by a system of forged checks, drawn on the Northwestern bank. He was known to be a confidential man with the company and his signature was never questioned by the bank people. He was thirty years old and has a wife and two children. They were in court when the sentence was pronounced.

CHARLES DOUDRICK,

He Falls Under the Wheels of a Freight Train and Meets With Serious Injuries.

Charles A. Doudrick is a conductor on a Pittsburg freight train and with his young wife is living in the Esmond block on South Calhoun street. This morning the news reached this city that he had met with a serious accident at Plymouth, a county seat on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, about sixty miles west of this city.

The train that he was running was a double-header freight train. It appears that while the train was in motion, Doudrick attempted to go from the front locomotive over the second one to the rear part of the train, and in doing so fell between the engines. The wheels of the second engine passed over both his lower limbs. His right leg was cut off at the knee and his left at the ankle, while such other injuries were inflicted as to make his recovery exceedingly doubtful. The bleeding and mangled victim was picked up by his fellow employes and cared for. His wife was summoned and she left this morning on a special train, with Dr. Siemen, for the scene of the accident.

HE SNUFFED IT.

Daniel Witt Has a Very Serious Encounter with a Gas Meter.

Daniel Witt, a man less than thirty years of age, registered at the Robinson house last evening. About 8 o'clock he went to his room, No. 82, and it is supposed that he soon after retired.

With an air of abandon Mr. Witt blew out the gas and lay down to peaceful slumbers while the gas meter merrily ticked the hours away.

The fellow did not discover himself this morning and at 10:30 one of the housemaids put her eye to the keyhole and detected a strange odor of gas.

The clerk broke into the room and found Witt almost in the agonies of death. He was ventilated and after an hour Dr. G. L. Greenawalt succeeded in arousing the sufferer to consciousness.

Mr. Witt is being kindly cared for at the hotel and will get well. His home is at St. Leon, Dearborn county, Ind. He has relatives at New Castle and it is said the unsophisticated stranger came here to look for work.

The memory of his sensational introduction to metropolitan life will linger with him.

Arrested for Bigamy.

SYCAMORE, Ill., Oct. 7.—Samuel Saell, a former Swedish blacksmith of this city, was brought here by Sheriff Holcomb yesterday from Ashland, Wis., and lodged in the county jail to answer a charge of bigamy. The gay and amorous Saell was the cause of many a flutter in the hearts of the pretty, red cheeked Swede girls of this place until he met and won the affections of a daughter of Farmer Johnson, living north of the city. They were married and all went smoothly as the proverbial "marriage bell." Some months ago Saell went back to the wilds of the Badger state, from whence he had come to Sycamore. Since his departure it was learned that he had an anxious wife awaiting his coming in Chicago. Hence his arrest.

Poisoned His Wife.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—J. H. Seiler of this city, western agent for Messrs. Reeve, Osborne, & Co., tea merchants of New York, was arrested in Marion, O., yesterday, and brought here to answer the charge of administering poison to his wife last Saturday. He bought a bottle of wine Monday and left home in the afternoon. Mrs. Seiler drank the wine, was taken ill, and the physicians discovered strychine in the wine. Seiler is held under $3,000 bond.

Spoiled Their Fun.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 7.—Sheriff Leo Schott, of Hamilton county, repaired to Chester park, with thirty deputies all armed, yesterday afternoon, when Peter J. Nolan and John P. Clow had gotten fairly under way in the first round of the prize fight. He arrested both. There were 1800 people present. The prisoners were taken before a magistrate and gave bond to appear for trial.

A Banking Firm at Troy, New York, Closes Its Doors this Morning With $650,000 Liabilities.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The assignee of the firm of Oman, Calden & Co., bankers and brokers who closed at 9:30 this morning, is Fred. P. Allen, of this city. The amount is believed to be upwards of $650,000. The assignment provides for the payment of all just and reasonable costs, the salaries of the employes, the payment in full of the depositors in the savings department and all debts, as far as possible.

ANOTHER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Stafford & Murphy, liverymen and street contractors, assigned this morning, with liabilities at $40,000. Their assets are nominally $50,000.

Telegraphing From a Train.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A very successful exhibition of telegraphing to and from a train on the Lehigh Valley road, where the system is in operation, was given yesterday afternoon. With the train going a mile a minute messages were sent and the news and stock quotations were handled perfectly, and the conductor was instructed as to the running of his train.

Minister Manning Has Not Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The report that Judge Manning, United States Minister to Mexico, has resigned is positively denied at the department of state, and it is not believed he has any intention of giving up the mission.

Enterprise Brewing Company.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The report of the appraiser of the assigned estate of the Enterprise Brewing company, which was filed in court yesterday, shows liabilities of $2,000,000, and assets amounting to less than $17,000.

The Volunteer.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Oct. 7.—Considerable anxiety was felt this morning concerning the Volunteer. An observation was made from Abbot hall tower at 9 a. m., but she could not be sighted. She is considerably overdue.

LATER.

The Volunteer passed Hoagland Light at 11 o'clock this morning. A light wind caused the delay.

Tragedy in a Court Room.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 7.—A thrilling tragedy was enacted in the circuit court room yesterday. Sam Branch, a colored man, was on trial for larceny. As the jury filed into the court room, he was noticed to tremble and turn deathly pale. "What is your verdict?" asked the judge. "Guilty of larceny," replied the foreman. "What is the sentence?" "Five years in the penitentiary." As these words were uttered by the foreman, Branch exclaimed, "God knows I'm innocent," and pulling a large knife from his pocket thrust it into his throat, the blood spurting over the jury box and the judge's desk. The negro was dead in thirty minutes.

P. S. O'ROURKE.

He Chats With Editor Frank Zimmerman on Politics in General.

Editor Frank Zimmerman, of the Warsaw Union, devotes some space in his paper this week to Fort Wayne politics. He says Judge Lowry, who, by the way, was associated with Zimmerman in publishing THE SENTINEL years ago, should not accept a seat in congress, even if it was given him. Mr. Zimmerman would rather see Hon. A. P. Edgerton at the head of the civil service commission than a candidate for vice president, and then settles down to business: "While in Fort Wayne last Saturday, the writer had a brief talk with P. S. O'Rourke. As usual, the gentleman was chuck full of politics and chuck full of talk. He is what may be justly termed a democratic fighter of the independent order and stands firmly by President Cleveland, because he is an honest man and gives the country an honest administration. Next year Mr. O'Rourke will loom up as a democratic candidate for congress in the Twelfth district, and if nominated make his fight principally on the tariff question. He is firmly of the opinion that if the democratic party took hold of that question, make it the issue in the next campaign, it would be worth thousands of votes. He does not believe in the practice of stealing into office either by demagoguery or any other process, neither does he subscribe to everything that the politicians say and do in their own interest. Altogether his idea of political conduct agrees with our own views tolerably well."

STEWART & HAHN.

The Wabash proper earned the fourth week in September $52,000 more than in the corresponding week in 1886. The impression prevails that it would be better to leave the road in the hands of Receiver McNulta, as at no time in its history did the road earn as much, nor has it as rapidly paid off its just debts.

FROM THE FIELD.

Pencil Points Dotted Down After a Hasty Trip Around the Railroads and Manufactories.

W. H. Jenkins, of the Pennsylvania works, is suffering with an attack of malarial fever.

George Miller, a fireman on the Wabash, moved his family from this city to Wabash to-day.

Frank Haffen, the genial machinist in the Bass works, has the thanks of our reporter for favors.

Tom Hughes, who is employed in the boiler department of the Wabash shops, has been on the sick list.

The Nickel Plate's new iron bridge over Sandusky river at Fort Seneca, O., is completed and trains pass over it.

G. L. Potter, the assistant master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, is in the east on business for the company.

Henry Belling, formerly with the piano firm of D. H. Baldwin & Co., has taken a position at the organ factory.

Victor A. Sailot, the popular superintendent of the Olds works, was at Defiance yesterday on business for his firm.

B. Fitzpatrick, the general foreman of the Pittsburg shops is acting master mechanic, during the absence of F. D. Cassanave.

The Chicago Tribune predicts the breaking up of all the western railroad agreements, to be followed by a long demoralization of rates.

Otto Oesman will resign his position in the Pittsburg machine shops on the 18th of this month, to go to Pittsburg to take a position there.

F. D. Cassanave, the master mechanic of the Pittsburg shops, left last evening for Chicago, with his brother G. F. Cassanave, on business.

J. W. Douglass, night yard master at Lima, Ohio, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, was fatally crushed between cars Tuesday morning.

The shipment of east bound freights out of Chicago last week amounted to 44,531 tons, a decrease of 466 tons as compared with the shipments of the preceding week.

There are now sixty men employed in the new moulding rooms of the Bass foundry. This makes the force of moulders at this establishment number over 250 in all.

The Bass works are constructing one mile of water pipe for the Pittsburg company, which will be laid from the company's shops to the east yards.

John E. Ross, the popular ticket agent of the Pittsburg, has his hands full of work just now. Business on the Pittsburg is booming, and the Fort Wayne office gets its share of it.

Peter Laurer, an employe in the Bass foundry, gave a very pleasant party at his residence last night, in honor of his daughter, Miss Mary. About twenty persons were in attendance.

Now that the Wabash Western (the Wabash proper) and the Wisconsin Central roads have fallen into line in this matter of paying no commissions on the sale of tickets, there are but eleven roads outside of the agreement, and but five of them roads of any importance.

The general passenger agents of the trunk lines, at their recent meeting, had a stormy session. The question was sprung as to the responsibility of the Pennsylvania road for the recent scalping business growing out of its cut rates to the convention held in Philadelphia.

The suicide of John Jones and the robbery of Wm. Wohlford were the two great topics of conversation among the employes of the Pittsburg company this morning. Jones was a former brakeman on the road, and Wohlford is a machinist in the company's shops in this city.

The roads centering at Omaha are experiencing the same trouble from the detention to cars for loading and unloading and in attempting to collect demurrage charges, are puzzled what to do fully as much as are the agents at this point. When cars are worth $10 per day to a road the temptation to crowd shippers and consignees to handle their freights promptly is great, and that some hard feeling is occasioned often is not surprising.

The Pittsburg shops in this city are now building, on an average, three new locomotives a month, and in addition to this, are constantly engaged in repairing old locomotives. Work in every department is more active than it has ever been before, and it promises to remain so during the entire winter. The men work early and late, and in many of the departments a large night force is kept on duty. Such manufactories as this boom a town and much of the sure and permanent growth that Fort Wayne has experienced is attributable to such busy and extensive establishments as this, of which we have a number.

Men are often heard saying that their aspirations are high, but every time they cough their noses go towards the earth, with indications that they will follow them soon, unless they are wise enough to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in time.

WANTED.—Immediately a good canvasser. To work in the city. Business made known by applying to Geo. C. Richard, city ball poster, at Woolworth's drug store.

IRISHMEN REJOICE.

Lord Mayor Sullivan Declared Not Guilty—Wm. O'Brien on Trial To-Day.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—The trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Mr. O'Brien, for publishing in the papers respectively controlled by them, reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the national league, opened at the Mansion house court yesterday afternoon.

After hearing the evidence the court dismissed the case on the ground that the crown had not proved that the meeting reported in the National was a meeting of a suppressed branch of the National league. The spectators and the crowd outside the court room were wildly enthusiastic over the decision. The case of Mr. O'Brien will be called to-day.

Dividing Profits With Workmen.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—A great holiday and celebration was had yesterday by upwards of 200 employes of Proctor & Gamble on the occasion of the firm paying its first semi-annual share of profits to the workmen. The shares paid the men was 13½ per cent. on their wages for six months, which aggregated $98,000. Some workmen got as much as $40. This is the first dividend under the share plan since its adoption.

Took His Own Life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Alfred Jamlecke, aged twenty-five, son of a wealthy New York jeweler, shot himself dead Wednesday night as he was entering the police headquarters in charge of detectives. He had led a dissipated life, and finally stole some jewelry from a man who gave him employment after he had been cast off by his parents. His arrest and suicide resulted.

Foreign.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The Russian government is about to levy a duty on marine and railroad passenger tickets.

The widow of M. Katkoff will resign the editorship of the Moscow Gazette in January next.

A decrees has been issued under the German socialist law declaring a minor state of siege in Berlin and prohibiting the sale on the streets of special editions of papers.

Mr. Charles Arnold, of the Bluffton Chronicle, is in the city.

This afternoon Deputy Sheriff Platt J. Wise, received a telegram announcing the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ollie, at Elmira, N. Y., to Mr. Emmet Fleming, a prominent business man of Buffalo. Miss Wise was the guest of relatives there and in their presence the ceremony was solemnized. The young lady is a charming person and her Fort Wayne friends will wish her all the joy and happiness in the world. Mr. Fleming has visited in this city and is favorably recalled. THE SENTINEL sends its congratulations.

A GALLANT BRIGADE.

Reunion of the 129th Regiment at Warsaw Yesterday.

Quite a party of veterans went from this city to Warsaw yesterday to attend the reunion of the famous 129th regiment. The Warsaw Times says:

"Col. Charles A. Zollinger, the gallant commander of the 129th Indiana Infantry, arrived in town last evening for the purpose of attending the reunion of that regiment to-day. If ever there was a man sincerely beloved by the men he commanded during the late war, that was Col. Charles A. Zollinger. The old soldiers of the late war by which we mean the veterans of 1861-2—were somewhat disposed to make sport of the troops that entered the service at a later hour. After the battle of Resaca, however, "Hovey's Division," as covered itself with glory that after that terrible struggle but little sport was made of "Hovey's Infants!" During that battle the boys, fresh from the workshops and farms of the "Old Hoosier State," became the veterans of that grand old army that captured Atlanta, and afterwards withstood General Hood at Franklin, perhaps—indeed, without a doubt—the bloodiest battle of the war for the number engaged. All honor to the 129th. May the survivors live always, and every man of their number secure a pension that will enable him to live in comfort during his declining days!"

Daily Sentinel.

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1887.

A CITIZEN of Prague in Bohemia, was visiting at Munich and sat there in a saloon when some foolish fellow managed to throw a little child's watch with chain and key attached into the glass of beer standing before the man. The Bohemian swallowed the contents at a gulp and did not perceive the mischievous trick until the watch was passing down to his stomach. The metal immediately began dissolving in the stomach, which it poisons and keeps in an incessant state of fever, causing it to reject every kind of food introduced. The man was dismissed from the Munich hospital as incurable and is now lying in a hospital at Prague. He is kept alive by artificial food introduced by injections. But there being no hope of extracting the watch from his stomach, he is expected to succumb to the slow and lingering process of starvation.

THE Albuquerque (N. M.) Citizen records the courage and presence of mind of a lady of that place. While in her garden picking berries she felt something bite her on the neck just below the ear. She quickly put her hand up to the place, when a centipede curled itself around her forefinger. She immediately brushed it off with her other hand, and, strange to relate, did not faint nor scream, but ran into the house, and, finding the ammonia bottle empty, took a big knife and stuck the blade into the fire in the stove until it got hot, when she applied it to the wound. Next she took some soda and applied that, fastening it by wrapping a cloth around her neck. By this time her neck began to swell, and she says she felt as though the top of her head was about to secede, and closed her teeth tightly to make sure that her head was not gone. In a short time she felt greatly relieved, and then informed her daughter. She did not even call for a doctor, but she has procured another supply of ammonia.

AN amusing feature of the present American craze in London is the development of British three-card monte sharps. They ply their trade on all the great lines running out of London, usually selecting Americans as their victims. A well-dressed, military looking man enters a first-class carriage, takes no notice of his fellow-passengers, and is absorbed in reviews and periodicals. At some station on the line there enter to him two other military-looking men, who fall to discussing army estimates and dynamite guns. The conversation turns at last upon a trick that one of them had seen played at the Wild West show. Had any one in the carriage any card? No, but the taciturn gentleman had three photographs in his pocket, including one of the Prince of Wales. Would they do? Certainly. Then in a bungling way the sharper proceeded to explain the trick, asking the others to follow the Prince of Wales. As he pretended to become more expert he won from his friend, who laughed heartily at the conceit. The Americans present, though, had seen the trick so often that they could follow the Prince's photograph every time. At last they are led into the game, with the usual results. A United States army officer was roped in like this the other day on his way to Liverpool, and lost $120 before he had the faintest idea that he was in the hands of sharpers. "And deuced agreeable fellows they were, too," he added sadly.

AN exhaustive series of comparisons has just been concluded by Auwers which has involved the taking into account of more than 20,000 measurements of the solar diameter. His work has resulted in the belief that there is no good ground for recent allegations that the actual size of the chief luminary of our system undergoes a periodical change. Those changes which have been observed, or thought to have been discovered, must be ascribed to the influence of temperature upon the instruments employed in the process of measurement, excepting those that depend upon the periodic variation of the radius vector in the earth's orbit. This conclusion might have been anticipated, but it is consoling to have all doubts in regard to it set at rest by one who is acknowledged to be competent to compare and decide. Of course, the discussion refers only to changes of magnitude great enough to be perceptible at the distance of some 93,000,000 miles. Neither does it include the slow and steady contraction of the solar bulk which some of our best physicists believe to be a necessary accompaniment to the cooling process that is continually going on in the sun. A contraction of a very few feet per year is considered to be sufficient to account for the probable cooling, and this would have to be observed through the course of a great many centuries before it could be detected, as 500 miles at the solar surface corresponds to about one second of observed arc, and one tenth of that quantity is a very small one. It is well known that precise micrometric measurements of the heavenly bodies and the celestial spaces do not date back much more than a single century.

THE days of the book agent are numbered. A German firm has invented a steel-clad bullet that will penetrate four inches of brass.—Newman Independent.

THE witty man of the Middle Temple students said at a city chop-house: "I won't pay for steaks as tough as these; no law can compel me; they're not legal tender."

RESTAURANT-KEEPER (to guest)—Is your seat quite comfortable, sir? Are you too near the window? (Guest—No, the window is all right; but I wouldn't mind sitting a little farther from the butter.

MRS. WELLS about to hire a new servant—Now, in regard to going out visiting, I— Servant (interrupting—"Och, go out whinever yer loikes; you'll not find Bridget Murphy harrud, mum, or dictatorial loike.

BROWN—Isay, Robinson, are you still sweet on Miss Tittleback? Robinson—I'm afraid she didn't appreciate my visits. "Why do you think so?" "Well, the last time I called she had an alarm clock in the parlor, and had it set for 10 o'clock. I've given up calling there."—New York Sun.

"YOUNG man," he said, earnestly, "do you ever put the present aside, and gaze thoughtfully into the future?" "You bet I do," was the emphatic response. "I've got a six-months' buyer's option on 10,000 barrels of crude oil, and just now I'm spelling future with a big, big F."—New York Sun.

ONCE there was lying by the side of the ditch a pig. On the other side lay a man. The pig was sober, the man was drunk. The pig had a ring in his nose, and man had a ring on his finger. Some one passing exclaimed, so the pig heard it, "One is judged from the company he keeps." Instantly the pig rose and went away.

A LADY who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of her trip to a party of friends. "But what pleased me as much as anything," she said, "was the wonderful clock at Strasburg." "Oh, how I would love to see it!" gushed a pretty young woman in pink. "I am so much interested in such thing. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine, too?"

OH, I know I can't," sobbed the woman, after she returned from her husband's funeral, "I just know I can't ever think of anything else with poor John in the—the—tomb!" and she broke down again. "There was a very large attendance at the funeral," said a lady friend, trying to get the poor woman's mind into some other channel. "Mrs. Gen. Parade was present." "Was Mrs. Gen. Parade there?" "Yes." "Whatwh-what did she have on?" and the poor widow burst into tears anew.—Dakota Bell.

MRS. SHODDY—What has become of your beau, Belle? Miss S.—He has gone to the beach for his health. Mrs. S.—He's rich, and I can't see why you shilly-shally with him so long. Why don't you marry him? Miss S.—I do not care to marry him. He is a valetudinarian. Mrs. S.—What's that got to do with it? We're no sticklers about religion. It ain't like as it either of you were Catholics and needed a dispensation. You ought to be glad of the chance. If I was in your place I'd marry him if he was a vegetarian.—Boston Courier.

Getting Rid of the Crowd.

A justice of the peace was trying a case in the town where he lived when he was a young man, and the speech of a very eloquent lawyer attracted a crowd, which filled the office and blocked up the doors and windows.

The old justice, needing fresh air, at last stopped the orator, and quietly remarked:

"I wish you would sit down and let —speak a little while. I want to thin out this crowd!"—Youth's Companion.

A Shoplifter Caught.

A lady in London stole a piece of Valenciennes lace while examining some. She was detected, but permitted to leave the shop, whence a letter to this effect was soon sent: "Madam—I am afraid that the fifteen yards of lace which you selected in my shop will not be sufficient to trim your dress. I therefore take the liberty of sending you a second piece of the same pattern. I beg to be informed whether you accept." The signature was that of the proprietor. It was accepted and paid for.—London letter.

Catarrh, Hay or Rose Fever.

The cleansing, soothing and healing properties of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid are experienced in the treatment and cure of Catarrh and kindred complaints. The Fluid soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and removes the offensive odor that characterizes the disease. Should the inflamation have reached the throat use the Fluid as a gargle to allay the inflammation and to disinfect.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19-sodawly.

Cuba as It Is.

The island has more fine harbors than any other country of its size, and it is no wonder that the buccaneers of the Spanish main selected it as the center of their principal enterprises. It has two large rivers and lots of rivers and plenty of fresh water springs. It has a climate which is one perpetual summer. It never snows in Cuba, though the ice mountains for ten miles upon the mountains. The babies can go naked here the year round, and as for the stocking trade of Havana its customers are confined to the higher classes. Neither stockings nor shoes are used by the laborers, and I doubt whether there are one thousand pairs of shoes worn by the one million five hundred thousand people who make up that island's population. They use instead a heltstrap, and the usual dress of the working men of the island consists of shirt and trousers. The best dressed men dress in white duck, with Panama hats.

The better class of women wear few underclothes, and a calico wrapper and a pair of shoeless slippers are a wardrobe. There are no carpets on the floors nor plaster on the ceilings. Iron bar take the place of glass windows, and there is not a chimney nor a cooking stove in Havana. There are no barns, and the horses are washed in the harbors instead of being curried. There are no bricks used in the sidewalks, and the average sidewalk is three feet wide and of stone. The building stone used is a porous one, and this is covered with stucco. Havana has parks, but there is no grass in them, and as for shade, it can be got only by going to the mountains.

The policemen carry swords and guns, and the offices of all kinds are filled by the Spaniards. There are no mattresses on the Cuban beds, and as for feather pillows, there are not feathers enough used here to make a wad for the earache. There are few china pitchers used in Havana, and the drinking mug is of porous clay, with a hole at the top, out of which the water is poured into the mouth in a trickling stream. Red brick tiles take the place of shingles and the tops of the houses are used in the evenings for sitting-rooms. The gardens of Havana are inside the houses, instead of behind them.

The milkman drives his cow from door to door and milks directly into the vessel of his customer. The calf generally tags along behind, and the cow low and then refuses to give down her milk until the calf has had a pull. The only way of watering the milk is watering the cow; but a cow that is kept on the run much of the time does not always give good milk.

The Cuban takes oranges, bread and butter, and coffee for breakfast. He pares his oranges as we do apples, and you find plates of pared oranges before you on the table when you sit down to the morning meal. The way to eat these oranges is to drive a fork into them, plant your teeth firmly into the luscious fruit and suck the juice. The Cuban breakfast is taken on rising, and there is another breakfast about nine or ten o'clock. This is more like the American meal, and the whole city knocks off for it. Passing along the street at this time you may see families at their meals through the open windows and doors, and an hour or two later the whole town seems to be taking a siesta. Dinner is eaten between five and six o'clock, and the stores keep open until about nine o'clock in the evening.—Hoosier Journal.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

The Kayak in Greenland.

Writing in the Century of the Greenland kayak, Gen. Greely says: This dangerous craft is gradually dying out in Greenland, and only the brighter and more ambitious boys acquire it. Practice must commence at a tender age, and must be continued assiduously. Jens had a pride and delight in the art, such as was unusual in his settlement. For those who have never seen a kayak I will imperfectly describe it as a shuttle-shaped boat, consisting of a wooden frame-work, which is fastened together generally by sealskin thongs, and over which is stretched a covering of tanned sealskin as neatly and tightly as in the sheepskin of a drum head. The skin covering is so well tanned, and it is so deftly sewn together with sinew thread by the Eskimo women, that no drop of water finds its way through skin or seam. The use of seal thongs in uniting the stanchions gives great strength and equal elasticity, allowing with impunity great shocks which otherwise would destroy so frail a structure. The boat is usually some fifteen feet long, and from its central point gently curves upward—from a width of twenty and a depth of ten inches—to pointed ends. Both prow and stern are carefully armed with a thin molding of walrus ivory, which is a protection to the skin covering when the hunter, spinning through the water, strikes small ice, or, in landing, so throws forward and upward his kayak that boat and man slide easily and safely up the edge on to the level surface of a floe. The only opening is a circular hole with a bone or wooden ring, its size being strictly limited to the circumference of the hips of the largest hunter who is to use it.

A waterproof combination jacket and mitten of oil-tanned sealskin is worn by the hunter, who tightly laces the bottom to the ring, so that no water can enter the kayak. Thus equipped the Innuit hunter faces seas which would swamp any other craft and plunges safely through the heaviest surf. A single oar, with a blade at each end, in skillful and trained hands propels this unballasted, unsteady craft with great rapidity, and it moves through the water at a rate varying from five to ten miles an hour, according to the character of the sea and the exigency of the occasion. The oar properly handled enables an expert to rise to the surface if, as happens at times, the boat is overturned.

The kayak of the Esquiman is probably unsurpassed in ingenuity by the boating devices of any other savage people of the globe. Its essential points of lightness, buoyancy, and structural strength are marvelously well adapted to the varying and dangerous conditions under which an Esquiman provider seeks his sea game. This tiny craft with all hunting gear weighs scarcely fifty pounds, and will carry a load of some 200 pounds besides its occupant.

SPECIAL taxes are levied upon bachelors in France, and they pay it cheerfully; nary a kick.

POPPING the question has its corollary—being questioned by the pop.—Lowell Citizen.

A Queer Philanthropist.

Stephen Girard was a man under a possession. He had a great talent, and it dominated him. In his pursuit of business he was as keen as a lover, and as blind to outside and diverting influences. It was not money-making that was his passion, that came as a logical result; but he was absorbed in, and devoted to business. He sometimes hardly seemed to realize the value of money to other people, and that a man should be ruined because he could not command a certain sum on a certain day was almost a crime to him. No one had a right to get into such a position, and he should ask no pity. Girard had no patience with failures. If a man had feet let him stand on them. No one found Girard willing to act as a crutch, although he could go into the houses whose very air was death, and in his arms carry out men who were dying with a pestilence. He believed in fraternity, but his employes were—his employes. In his counting-room, his bank, his house, there was but one will, and that was his own. He paid for the work done for him. Did the worker need any money? Had he necessities beyond his income? What was that to his employer? He kept to his limits in all his relations in life, and never lost a clear sense of relative positions. After his brother Jean died, he took charge of the three orphan children left in Philadelphia. He sent them to the best schools, but he paid the bills out of the little estate their father left. His house was their home, and he was kind to them. He never bought a shawl or dress for one that he did not for the others, and he remembered their girlish fancies. After they had married from his house he petted their children, and liked to have them about, and, indeed, felt a right to the little people, but he never adopted these girls, and never seemed to have a father's devotion for them. He corresponded with his family in France, but he was too busy watching the markets of the world to give much time to individuals, even if they were his relations.—The Domestic Monthly.

MEN love to hear of their power, but have an extreme dis-relish to be told their duty.—Burke.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, the wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores, and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and healthy health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last thirty years, and last January I was not able to dress or feed myself without assistance. After taking six bottles of M. I. S. T. I consider myself almost well; I recommend it to everybody. Van Whitesell, 428 Fourteenth avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Four boxes of M. I. S. T. cured me of a bad case of dyspepsia and neuralgia. Miss Jennie McCartney, 173 Leverett street, Detroit, Mich.

My daughter suffered from rheumatism for nearly a year, which was so painful at times her screams could be heard for a block away; she could hardly walk, her ankles were so out of shape. Minnie Maddern and her company were guests of the Rich house last night. The party was en route to South Bend where they play to-night and to-morrow night.

In the account of the death of Mrs. M. F. Barbour, given in yesterday's SENTINEL, it should have been stated that she was born on the 29th day of November, 1817.

The Union Pacific tea company has our thanks for a pound package of their flavored Young Hyson tea. It is splendid tea and Mr. F. C. Patmore, the manager, has our thanks.

Charles Riel, who had his hand injured at the electric light works, is on duty again. The doctor made a mistake when he said Charles could not work for a month, as he is a hustler.

Prof. Charley Meyer, of the Conservatory, is organizing a grand chorus and has sent invitations to the best voices in the city to meet him next Monday evening for organization. This is acceptable work.

The funeral of Mrs. M. F. Barbour will occur to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Moffat, and the friends of the family are invited to attend.

The new street cars are to be elegantly upholstered. They were expected here to-morrow, but it is probable they will not come until the company has constructed its new car house. Work on this building will begin next week and it is to have a repair room on the second floor, with elevator attachments.

The Huntington Herald says: "Hon. John H. Bass, president of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, and Hon. S. B. Bond, president of the Fort Wayne National bank, were in the city between trains. Both gentlemen expressed themselves as very much surprised at the wonderfully rapid growth of Huntington."

The Lagrange Standard says: "Supt. P. S. O'Rourke was in town last week. He thinks all the difficulties about the Orland branch will be overcome, but does not indicate that the Grand Rapids and Indiana company will change its original terms in the least. These have not been fully understood, hereabouts at least, in the light they are said to be."

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church gave a very delightful entertainment last evening in the way of opening the new rooms of the church. Music was made a very enjoyable feature of last evening's affair. There were solos by Miss Ida Kellogg, Mrs. Hugh McC. Bond, Mr. F. P. Yarnelle, Mr. Chas H. Worden and others. Miss Julia Wilson presided at the piano. A splendid supper was served.

Col. D. N. Foster returned early this morning, with his son Bert, from New Jersey, where the latter has been for the last few weeks on account of his health. Although Bert is slightly better than when he left New Jersey a day or two ago, he is still in a very dangerous condition. He is afflicted with consumption and his parents are doing everything in their power to stay the progress of the dread disease.

There was no police court this morning.

Geo. A. Reed and Nettie A. Turnbull, Wm. H. Fleming and Ella Strader have been licensed to wed.

The cobble stone pavement between the street car tracks settled badly and is being repaired in places.

Miss Merica Hoagland will leave for Europe Monday afternoon. She expects to be gone about four months.

The funeral of Fred W. Buschman will take place at 2 o'clock Monday from St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Miss Cora Tanner, the charming emotional actress in "Alone in London," will present a new piece called "Fascination" at the Temple next season.

Mrs. George Snyder, of Shane's Crossing, Ohio, arrived in the city last night and is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John H. Kable, whose little girl is ill with the scarlet fever.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Emilie F., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Meyer to John W. Landenberger, bookkeeper for J. C. Peters. The nuptials will be solemnized at St. Paul's Lutheran church at noon on Wednesday, October 19, Rev. Sauers officiating.

The Wabash Western has nearly $1,500,000 in cash in its treasury and its earnings are exceeding those of any time in its history. A portion of this money is to be expended in further improving the road bed and equipments, more especially its passenger equipment.

Mrs. William Bendure, who was visiting relatives in the city, went to her home, near Lafayette, yesterday. The lady was induced to shorten her visit here by the appearance of scarlet fever near the house she was stopping at, fearful that her baby would become ill with the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McKinnie and Miss McLaughlin returned last evening from Chicago. They attended the reception given President and Mrs. Cleveland at the Columbia theatre, Chicago, and were presented to the chief magistrate and his wife. Mr. McKinnie is a great admirer of Mr. Cleveland.

The punishment assessed was eighteen months in state prison for Reynolds and one year in state prison for Kennedy. James Hill, who stole a mouth harp got 10 days in jail.

Mr. W. P. Chapman is enjoying a merited rest from his labors as local manager of the Adams and American Express companies, in this city, for the past thirteen years. Adam Forepaugh purchased a mammoth ox at Atchison, Kansas, for $10,000, Forepaugh figures. He is a beautiful roan, six feet and four inches high, eleven feet and four inches around the girth, three feet and four inches between hip points and eighteen feet from tip to tip. He has tremendous bones and when fatted and filled out will weigh 4,700 pounds.

The funeral of Brakeman John W. Jones who shot himself took place at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence of his mother No. 51 Oliver street. Dr. J. M. Dinnen, the coroner, says Mr. Jones was not drinking at the time he shot at his wife and killed himself. It seems to have been a case where whisky and domestic troubles were mixed in equal proportions.

William Wolfert, a well known department foreman in the Pittsburg shops, who lives at No. 408 Hanna street, walked into Miller's Lafayette street drug store last evening after 8 o'clock, with his hands tied tightly behind him. The rope was cut and Mr. Wolfert explained that a short time before, on Hamilton street, he was waylaid, knocked down and robbed of $850. The man had no marks of the encounter and was a little mixed as to his position when assaulted. Mr. Wolfert is an honest, sober fellow and was seen on Calhoun street a short time before the alleged robbery. He is in the habit of carrying considerable money with him and of showing it. There is some question about Mr. Wolfert's story, however, and some of his friends say he might have lost some money at a game of chance and sought the means described to cover it up. Very few credit the theory of highway robbery at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Tom Pickard and his bride are visiting relatives in the city.

The Daddy Nolan combination pleased their audience after their fashion at the Temple last night. It introduces the story of an extravagant college son, a secret marriage and Peck's bad boy, with two pleasing ladies to feast one's eyes on. The show always catches a fair audience and is not bad for its kind.

D. W. Harding, the former well known and popular machinist in the Pittsburg shops, is now at Chicago. He resigned his position here a few weeks ago and it is now rumored that certain domestic difficulties led him to take this step. His wife remained in this city and the friends of both parties are now endeavoring to amicably arrange matters between them. Mr. Harding was a pleasant, industrious and intelligent young gentleman and both he and his wife have a host of friends in this city.

Don't!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels, or wrappers, or in a mutilated or defaced package, don't touch it—don't buy it at any price, you can rest assured that there is something wrong—it may be a dangerous counterfeit. Insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken, genuine package.

Mrs. Hugh Dougherty is in the city visiting friends.

There seems to be an epidemic of measles in the city.

The Water Works Case.

The closing arguments in the feeder canal injunction case began this morning. Mr. H. C. Hanna opened for the trustees, Mr. Henry Colerick and Judge John Morris followed for the city, while Hon. W. G. Colerick concluded as we go to press.
